New JSABuilder Version Helps Customers Keep Workers Safe and Costs Down

AGOURA HILLS, CA, Aug. 3 – HASP Online, LLC, is pleased to announce the new version of JSABuilder (www.JSABuilder.com), the preeminent online service for conducting and managing OSHA recommended JSAs (Job Safety Analysis, also known as JHA, or Job Hazard Analysis). JSABuilder helps keep workers safe and costs down.

JSABuilder was developed by health and safety professionals to assist in the development and management of JSAs applicable to any industry, business, governmental or commercial operation. Users quickly navigate through a series of screens, selecting information from database-driven lists and checkboxes, with options to add text specific to the user's job or project, creating a downloadable PDF, MS Word compatible, or HTML document for use in pre-job safety meetings, training sessions, or for future reference.

With the new version, users can take control of their JSA process, standardize procedures, collaborate and share knowledge throughout their organizations. One or more administrators can customize hazards, consequences, and control measures. JSAs are stored in an organization's on-line JSA library and can be organized in folders based on type of work, area, division, etc. Any JSA stored in an organization's library can be used as the starting point for a new JSA, helping the organization manage its knowledge of hazards and controls, and saving time and money in preparing future JSAs. Most of all, JSABuilder helps prevent injuries, while reducing costs!

"The new version of JSABuilder drives shared learnings to a new level, allowing users to tap into the collective knowledge of their organization and more effectively share their experiences" said John Schulz, HASP Online general manager. "Organizations can now avoid repeating similar mistakes and 're-inventing the wheel' each time a JSA must be conducted."

JSABuilder is available to create unlimited JSAs from only $49 per year for a single user. An unlimited number of users can be added at steeply tiered discounts. A free 30-day trial is available.
